Aberhart Party Carries Huge Majority in Province

Wm. Masson Wins in Wainwright Constituency

Alberta's new government will be Social Credit. Going to the polls in record numbers on Thursday after one of the most hard fought campaigns in the history of the province, followers of William Aberhart, B.A., Calgary's evangelical school principal, piled up majorities in almost every constituency in Alberta. In their striking bid for political power they completely annihilated the U.F.A. government of the last 14 years, numbering Premier R. G. Reid and every member of his cabinet among the fallen, and at the same time wiping out the Conservative, Labor and Independent members of the last legislature and leaving the Liberals with their ranks shattered.

But there is no doubt about who will be the government, the Social Credit party having already sufficient members elected to guarantee their taking office.

That they will be handed the reins of government as soon as it is possible to make the necessary arrangements was indicated by Premier Reid on Thursday night. Receiving the returns in the parliament buildings along with members of the cabinet the defeat of the U.F.A. administration was conceded by the premier at 10 p.m.

"The people have spoken and the U.F.A. government will prepare to step out as quickly as possible to meet the will of the people," he said. Asked to comment on the results, he had nothing to add.

"What can one say?" he asked. "The will of the people has spoken."

"Then you concede a Social Credit victory?" he was asked. "I would say there is no doubt of it, judging by the present returns," he replied, and even as he spoke the loss of another two U.F.A. seats was recorded.

Asked direct when his government would be prepared to step out, Premier Reid did not hesitate in his reply. "Naturally we will get out as quickly as possible," he said. "We will meet the will of the people."

REWARD WHEAT

Last year our Reward wheat was degraded from No. 1 and from No. 1 Hard down to lower grades for the reason that a percentage of the kernels showed a bronze or green color. This discoloration, it has been found, was caused by the Reward wheat being cut on the green side. Apparently Marquis and Garnet can be cut when slightly green. Reward, however, cannot. Farmers are recommended, therefore, to consider allowing their fields of Reward to ripen thoroughly before being cut.

Nature Upsets Man's Plans

Harvest time in Western Canada has again arrived and for the next few weeks great activity, from early morning till late at night, will be the rule right across these western plains. Following several years of short crops, and in many regions complete failure of crops due to drought, and consequently lack of resources on the part of tens of thousands of farmers to seed and harvest a crop this year, governments and municipalities, banks, mortgage, loan and implement companies made provision whereby farmers were supplied with feed, fodder, seed, gas and oil, machinery repairs, binder twine, and other essentials to the seeding and harvesting of a crop. Each individual farmer may not have received all that he desired, but, speaking broadly, the needs of the situation were fairly well met.

Taking the country as a whole, and excepting certain more or less restricted areas, copious rains have fallen throughout the growing season, following a somewhat late seeding. Up to a few weeks ago prospects for at least a normal, if not above normal crop, were bright. Grasshoppers and cut worms which were at first threatened, seemed to have been brought under control, weather conditions prevailing being a main factor to that end. Prospects for a fairly large and satisfactory crop were excellent, and estimates of as high as 350,000,000 to 400,000,000 bushels of wheat were commonly made.

But last month the bright picture became clouded as rust made its appearance in the wheat fields, coming in from the southeast and spreading rapidly westward and northward. Governments, financial concerns, economic planners, farmers, for years technical agricultural experts, chemists and scientists employed by Governments have been seeking a means to offset the ravages of rust and to develop a strain of wheat that will be rust-resistant. But Nature this year has defied all their efforts, and it is now self-evident that Western farmers will sustain heavy losses through the effect of rusted crops.

Estimates of the loss through rust already run as high as 100,000,000 bushels of wheat; some estimates are even higher, and, of course, the actual loss will not be known until the harvest is completed. On many farms, even in some municipalities, no wheat will be harvested.

There is no desire to be alarmist in reviewing this situation. Notwithstanding the inroads by rust upon what a few weeks ago was one of the most promising crops in many years, the general agricultural situation is decidedly better than for some years past. Grass again covers great areas of the West which recently presented a desert-like appearance. Feed and fodder formerly lacking is now available. Garden crops are generally reported to be good. But the big cash crop of the West, wheat, will be smaller and of decidedly less value than was hoped for and expected a few weeks ago.

The whole country must face this unfortunate fact and meet it to the best of its ability. No human agency can be held responsible for the losses sustained. It was beyond Governments, corporations, and individuals alike to prevent. All will be included in the losses sustained—Governments through loss of revenues and the necessity of providing assistance where it was not anticipated it would be necessary; railways through loss of traffic and therefore loss of revenues; railway, elevator, machine company and other employees, including farm laborers, through less employment; financial concerns to whom money for advances made is owing but which cannot be paid as fully as was anticipated; farmers more especially because the returns for their years' labor are swept away or very largely reduced. In a word, no existing political, financial, economic, or social system is responsible for the heavy losses the country is sustaining. Nature and conditions developed under its inscrutable laws are the sole cause.

But Nature is not always unkind. In the long run it always strikes a fair balance. Its laws operate not for one year, but throughout cycles of years. Man must not only recognize this truth, but govern himself accordingly. There is no good end to be served by becoming despondent and discouraged. There is only one courageous thing to do, and that is to face the situation and the problems presented. Losses to-day will be compensated for by gains to-morrow. That is a law of Nature. Therefore, the future should be faced with courage and determination. Life is a battle and must be fought. Man could not exist on "flowery beds of ease." If he is to succeed and reach the topmost rungs of the ladder of life, he must exert himself and climb, battling against all obstructions in his way, eradicating the weeds that cling and clog his steps, removing weaknesses and strengthening the ladder. Climbing he will become stronger; crouching at the foot of the ladder, waiting for somebody to carry him up, he will become flabby and weak and eventually succumb. Courage and determination, which will bring confidence, is essential to success in any walk of life. And in the long run Nature will not bar the way, rather it will be found helpful and co-operating.

Wood Ready For Use

Germany Has Treatment To Season Trees While Growing

Telegraph poles, railway ties and other heavy wood necessities may be grown to order by a treatment which has just been discovered in Germany. Trees are made to season themselves so that when felled their wood is ready for immediate use. A bore hole is made in the tree trunk, and a special chemical solution containing arsenic and other salts is injected into the living tree. These chemicals enter the sap stream of the tree and are gradually carried to the ends of the highest branches. The tree does not survive the treatment very long, but as it dies it becomes thoroughly saturated with preservative and can be used on railroads or for telegraphs and telephones without any of the usual treatment.

Balloon Which Turns Into Parachute Tested Near Moscow

A "parachute balloon," designed to change its form in the air and to descend as a parachute, made its first experimental flight from the field of the government dirigible factory near Moscow. The pilots, Modestoff and Lisoff, were ordered to ascend 10,000 feet, then to open the valve, permitting the gas to escape.

The underpart of the bag is designed to fold upward in such a manner the bag gradually takes the form of a parachute.

Trying For New Record

Speed Of 300 M.P.H. Is Sir Malcolm Campbell's Aim

A circus of record breaking under the boiling sun on Utah's salt desert, planned as the greatest show in the history of automobile speed racing, is the September aim of Sir Malcolm Campbell and Captain George Eyston, Britain's swiftest drivers.

The speed kings announced their plans to sail together, Sir Malcolm to shoot again at his dream of 300 miles an hour in the veteran Bluebird; Eyston to tackle every mark between that one and 24 hours.

Filled with glowing accounts of the Bonneville salt flats surface by his friend, John Cobb, who recently set 21 new records there, Campbell is confident that old Lady Bluebird, the six-ton thunder wagon that roared to the present land speed record of 276.816 on the sands of Daytona Beach last winter, finally will carry him this time over a mile in 12 seconds flat—300 miles an hour.

"I'm sure I'll beat 300 this time," Campbell said. "Then I'll chuck racing and stick to business."

The 50-year-old Englishman who has no challenger to-day for speed over a measured mile has made a few alterations in the Bluebird since his return from Florida.

Captain Eyston, who in the past nine years has set 200 records, more than any other living man, will alter record tries with Campbell. Eyston will drive a fearsome looking front-drive juggernaut, powered with a 400-horsepower Rolls Royce aviation engine. Its tanks carry 46 gallons of gasoline, giving it a 500-mile range without refueling. Eyston believes he can average 100 miles an hour or higher for 24 hours and is bringing Albert Denly along to drive relief.

Fingerprints By Radio

Experiments Have Shown Great Improvement In Results Obtained

Transmission of fingerprints by radio is the latest link between science and criminal detection—a link which is being more strongly forged by Scotland Yard every day.

Experiments were begun several months ago. Although not yet regarded as an every day practical business, considerable improvement has recently been made in the results obtained.

At first the images were blurred, even when sent from enlarged prints, but greater technical experience is gradually overcoming this drawback. The time is very near when in urgent cases, portable apparatus will be used to transmit fingerprints direct from the scene of the crime to Scotland Yard records, it was predicted.

As the technique of wired and radio transmission improves, it will be possible to send life-size fingerprint photographs speedily over any distance, police believe. Scotland Yard rapidly turns new scientific inventions to its own use in the fight against criminals. The present head of the famed investigating department, Lord Trenchard, has had much to do with the reorganization plans.

Demand For Homespun

Women In Quebec Are Kept Busy Filling Orders

Spinning wheels and hand looms in the district around Murray Bay, Quebec, are kept busy as the housewives try to fill demands of the fashionable world for homespun fabrics.

For years Murray Bay has been famous as the home of homespun. Its fine, soft blankets and candlewick spreads have been carried away by tourists to far parts of Canada, the United States and Europe. This year there are still the blankets, spreads and hooked rugs, but the range is for homespun fabrics, from such suits and skirts, sport jackets and coats are being made.

Much of the charm of the new fabrics is in their natural coloring and weave. Colors are from natural vegetable dyes, the habitation women making the fabrics from beginning to end.

Though women are doing most of the buying of habitation homespun, men are also using them for sports wear.

Power Of Sun Rays

Amount Of Sunburn In Sunlight Measured By Machine

Government scientists of the United States have successfully tested a machine which measures the amount of sunburn in sunlight.

Dr. W. W. Coblentz, internationally famous radiation expert of the National Bureau of Standards, has perfected the machine which measures the ultraviolet rays of sunlight which cause sunburn and tanning. The machine is known technically as a portable provision ultraviolet ray meter.

Ultraviolet rays comprise less than a thousandth of the total radiation coming from the sun, Dr. Coblentz said. Yet these particular rays are strong enough to scorch the skin with only several hours exposure during the summer months. The rays also are used in treating rickets.

Tests have been made at Washington and San Juan, Puerto Rico. Both are approximately at sea level and relatively free from smoke and dust. Dr. Coblentz pointed out that altitude and flying particles were factors in measuring solar radiation.

The "tanning" rays were somewhat stronger at San Juan than in Washington at the same comparative altitudes. This conforms with other radiation studies made in the tropics which show that the sun, being directly overhead, has to send its light through less ozone in the atmosphere. Experts estimate that the sunlight reaching Washington has to travel through approximately five per cent. more atmosphere than at San Juan, thus absorbing more ultraviolet rays.

Other tests performed at Flagstaff, Ariz., showed less ozone in the atmosphere than in the morning and thereafter a greater atmospheric transparency. Autumn was found to be more transparent there than the spring, experts found.

Fog takes its share of the ultraviolet rays out of the sunlight and there is less possibility of tanning when humidity is high, it was found.

Physicians are interested in the device because of the curative power of ultraviolet rays in cases of rickets, which is practically unknown in the tropics.

The present machine screens out the ultraviolet or "tanning" rays in the sunlight and measures them quantitatively with the aid of a photo-electric cell.

Sees Market In Britain

Opportunity For Export Of Tuberculin-Free Cattle From Canada

Prevalence of bovine tuberculosis in Great Britain provides a great opportunity for Canadian cattle-breeders to develop a large market for tuberculin-free cattle. Dr. Arthur Stephens, member of the British Medical Association touring party, said at Toronto before enjoining for Winnipeg. Dr. Stephens is an alderman of Swansea, South Wales.

"Sixty per cent. of cattle in Great Britain show tuberculin in tests," Dr. Stephens stated. "Canada's development in recent years has shown this can be reduced. For this reason and because opinion in Great Britain is strongly in favor of tuberculin-free herds, I believe a wonderful opportunity exists to benefit both Canadian cattle-breeders and the British people."

Killed a buffalo by twisting its horns to its neck broke;

Britain Has Not Yet Decided On Naval Program

Sir Bolton Eyre-Mansell, first lord of the admiralty, told the House of Commons Britain's naval building program could not be determined "until the results of a naval conference and programs of other powers are known."

Referring specifically to a published report that Britain plans to build a new $750,000,000 battle fleet by 1942, he said: "No attention need be paid to unofficial and irresponsible statements."

Britain, he added, has advanced a hypothetical program to the United States, Germany, France and others.

Honey As A Healer

Dr. N. Zais, a leading physician in Vienna, Austria, says honey is the best healer of wounds and superior to all ointments. He has treated several thousand cases with honey and has not had a single failure. It soothes pain, hastens healing and acts as an antiseptic, he declares. It is also highly effective with burns and carbuncles.

Rattlesnakes add from two to three "rattles" annually, and sometimes four.

Four hundred years are required by nature to build one inch of top soil, according to recent estimates.

The King's Reach

Section Of Thames Named In Honor Of Jubilee

The river Thames, so far as it runs through the metropolis district of London, is divided into a series of sections called "reaches." There is Chelsea Reach, Blackwall Reach, Greenwich Reach, Gallions Reach and so on, but one section appeared to have escaped being named, a deficiency which has just been rectified in honor of the King's silver jubilee. This is the stretch between the Pool of London, so familiar in pictures, just west of the Tower Bridge, and Lambeth Reach, which terminates on the Houses of Parliament side of Westminster Bridge. The Port of London Authority has decided to call it "The King's Reach."

Once upon a time the Thames was more used as the King's Highway than the road itself between Westminster and the Tower of London, the royal residence, St. James Palace being at one end while His Majesty often had business at the Tower—sometimes very dirty business at that. So that "The King's Reach" is an appropriate name for this important waterway. It includes London Bridge, Southwark Bridge, Blackfriars Bridge, Waterloo Bridge to Westminster, and on the shoreline are such noted places as Billingsgate Fish Market, Cannon street railway station, St. Paul's Cathedral, Victoria Embankment, including Chesapeake Needle, Somerset House, where wills are filed and all the births, deaths and marriages in England are registered, Charing Cross and Scotland Yard.

So if you should happen to be in Old London and lean over the parapet somewhere between the Houses of Parliament and the Tower looking at what John Burns calls "liquid history," that part is "The King's Reach."—St. Thomas Times-Journal.

Gave Address On Slang

Professor Of English Says It Is Language On Trial

At the spring meeting of Yorkshire Dialect Society held at Wilberforce House, J. H. Gratton, Professor of English language and philology in Liverpool University gave an address on slang, cant, and jargon. He said it was impossible to acquire a thorough knowledge of English without being familiar with slang and vulgarisms. Slang was language on trial, but no word or expression had any real meaning outside its context and the situation in which it occurred. Cant was originally the secret language of the under-world, and he defined jargon as language unintelligible out of its proper sphere. Consideration would show the absurdity of condemning slang unheard. Attempts had been made to classify it according to occupations. What we really wanted was more knowledge about the passing of sectional slang into general slang. Words which were started as slang had risen in value and become an essential part of our colloquial of literary vocabulary.

SYNOPSIS

Nancy Nelson is a sub-deb, a gay, irresponsible girl of nineteen, with no care beyond the choice of her costume for her coming-out party. Suddenly, in the market crash, her indulgent father loses all he had, and his family is faced with the necessity of a simpler method of living. At this juncture a letter is received from an eccentric relative in Colorado, who offers the girl a home on what seems to be impossible conditions.

After much consideration Cousin Columbine's offer is accepted, and Nancy and Jack arrive at Pine Ridge. They are met at the railway station by Columbine Nelson, who in turn introduces Mark and Matthew Adams, two neighbors of Aunt Columbine, and the party set out for Pine Ridge, which village causes dismay to both Nancy and Jack because of its dilapidated appearance and general look of poverty. Nancy and Jack are shown to the rooms they are to occupy, and both the young people consider the furniture and decorations hateful and, contrasting the present quarters with their luxurious home in Boston. Wonder if they can endure the change for any length of time. Aunt Columbine tells why she wrote the letter to them, and relates some of her early experiences at Pine Ridge of hostile Indians and forest fires, of her father's hunt for gold, and of her mother's splendid spirit, but frail body, which could not endure the strain of pioneer life.

Nancy set out one afternoon to climb to the top of a hill so as to obtain a view of the surrounding landscape and miss the path Aurora Tubbs had told her to follow. A truck comes along the road, driven by Matthew Adams, and she asks him which way to go. They start talking, and he looks around, and then goes on to Cousin Columbine's. There Mark Adam tells Nancy that his brother Luke has broken his leg, and that Jack Nelson has been hired to help out while Luke's leg gets better.

Now Go On With The Story

"Dear useful Aunt Louise: A blizzard is raging and I can't see Pike's Peak from my tower, and have to hop up every five minutes to drop a log into the stove. I could write in the farm paper, but Aurora Tubbs would insist on talking, and I've simply got to get this down on paper. It came of my trying to find something to read this stormy morning. All Cousin Columbine has is Scott and Dickens—"

"I love Dickens, and Scott too," Phil interrupted. "I can read those when I visit Cousin Columbine. Go on, Aunt Lou."

"Your sister does not share your admiration of the classics," observed his aunt. She says: "... and they look so dull (especially Scott), and the volumes are so heavy that I gave it up. I asked Aurora if there was a library here, and she said nobody in Pine Ridge had time to read, though the drug store does a thriving business in the sort of magazines that make you shudder and look school-marmy, Aunt Louise! Anyway, that gave me the idea. When I talked with Cousin Columbine she said that there was no Aladdin in Pine Ridge to rub his wonderful lamp, you know, and wish for a library; and while I was thinking what I'd do to this awful place if I were Aladdin, I got an inspiration!"

"I think she's pretty slow getting to it in the letter," said Phil. "It happens to be in the next paragraph, sonny," said Aunt Louise, and went on reading: "It's this; and I'm rushing my letter so you'll have to read Christmas vacation. I want to start a library here, Aunt Lou. If I got the books, I'm sure I'd find a place to keep them. There's a schoolhouse here that isn't used now the children are carried to a country school in buses, which would be wonderful. I'd open the place two or three afternoons a week, and no matter what Aurora says, I'm sure the young people and old ones too, would be glad to take out books if they had the chance."

"And here's where you come in: Wouldn't each girl at school donate a volume or two, if you told them about the scheme? And haven't you and Mother got a lot you'd like to get rid of? No matter if they're shabby. Juanita Tubbs will help me cover them with paper. I'm sure the Adams will give some too; and if you have any friends with books to part with, just grab them for Aladdin library. That's what I'll call it. You get somebody to paint a sign without being paid for the work. The Aladdin Library! Won't that look swell over the door?"

"I shan't say a word to any one until I hear from you, but do write soon or I'm likely to explode. With the exception of the Adam boys and Mary Taylor, the postmaster's daughter, this population looks as if it needed to be shaken up, and I'm sure a library will be a step in the right direction!"

Louise paused a moment, and then went on, a smile of amusement lighting her eyes: "Do not misunderstand, however. I have not become a missionary, or anything like that; but when you see people who have so little, it makes you think. Besides, I haven't enough to do. And Jack said Cousin Columbine wanted a slave! All the poor dear did want was to see some one belonging to her, before she died. And she's a long way from dying, if you ask me—the briskest (if there's no such word it doesn't matter) old lady I ever saw, and the most interesting."

"There's no time for more. The fire is almost out, and the wind is howling, and snow is sifting through the cracks in my tower windows. Cousin Columbine says I'll be dry as dust in a week, but I wonder. Love to every one at home, and do, do help!"

Louise laid down the letter, and looked up.

"What are you grinning for, Phil Nelson?"

"I was thinking that Nancy'd make a real swell missionary, at the little boy. 'I've got a lot of old books that she can have, just as well as not; and maybe some of the kids at school have got some too. Do you s'pose if I got a lot of books for the Pine Ridge library, that Cousin Columbine would pay my fare to Colorado?'"

Dad smiled, and said: "Some one will have to pay expressage on those books! But we'll manage that if we go without our Christmas dinner. I'm proud of our girl, thinking this up all by herself; and we've got to help her put it through. It's fortunate we stored the books out here, Margaret. We'll spend to-morrow going over them."

"And I'll pay the expressage," promised his sister. "It won't be necessary to go hungry Christmas day."

Phil drew a deep breath of relief. "That's the stuff! I'll be a funny enough Christmas anywhere, with Jack and Nancy gone. What are you thinking about, Mother? You look awful solemn and far-away."

His mother started, pulling herself together and smiling a bit wistfully. "Do you know," she told her family in surprise, "I've been so busy I only just remembered that—that Nancy was to have made her debut to-night!"

CHAPTER XIII.

Two thousand miles away in Pine Ridge, Colorado, there had been no thought on waking was that this was to have been the day of her debut, perhaps because her eyes had fallen on a mammoth calendar (its "decoration" depicting a lovelorn couple seated beside a purple lake), which was Aurora's donation to what the girl had christened her "chamber of horrors!"

So this was the day she had looked forward to so long! Nance snuggled down under the patch-work quilt and gave herself to the luxury of introspection. What thrills she and Mother had had over their plans!

ITCHING TORTURE Stopped Instantly

D. D. D. Prescription Speeds Relief

Even the most stubborn itching of eczema, pimples, mosquito or other insect bites, rashes and many other skin afflictions quickly yields to Dr. D. D. D. pure, cooling, liquid, antiseptic D. D. D. Prescription Forty years' world-wide success. Penetrates the skin, soothing and healing the inflamed tissues. No fuss—no mess. Clear, greaseless and stainless. It dries up almost immediately. Try D. D. D. Prescription now. Stops the most intense itching instantly. A 35c trial bottle at any drug store, is guaranteed to prove it—or money back. D. D. D. is made by the owners of ITALIAN BALM.

How exciting to indulge in all those evening gowns! And what would be happening to her now if that miserable stock market hadn't crashed, and Dad crashed with it?

Nance glanced at her watch. It was seven o'clock—nine in Boston; and before long the flowers would have come pouring in: flowers from family friends, boy friends, girl friends too. She could almost see Aunt Judy's eyes shining with delight and pride as each fragrant tribute was brought in—dear Aunt Judy, who'd never done anything but look after other people! Mother would be a whirl of efficient excitement, enjoying every thrilling moment, and—

Oh, what was the use of these imaginings? Nance asked herself. Even if Dad accumulated another fortune there would be no debut for her; and the chances were against his doing that—at his age. Fifty-six! Nance wondered how it would seem to be fifty-six—shuddered—and then realized that Dad didn't seem old at all, and often acted younger than she did! This was a cheering thought, and the girl kicked off her quilt and ran to close the windows.

At any rate, it was a glorious day, and all that snow had vanished, sinking into the ground and leaving everything quite dry again. Nance opened her door, to be greeted by the aroma of frying bacon. After all, the day might not be so bad. She was going to the Springs with Mrs. Adam (whom she had not yet met), to purchase the sport' house as well as some ten cent "jokes" for Christmas: something to make laughter at the dinner table, though Cousin Columbine assured that there would be laughter at the Adam dinner table, jokes or no jokes.

Nancy was late to breakfast. Cousin Columbine pretended to be provoked, but the girl grinned at her.

"I was too comfortable to move; and besides, I—well, I started day-dreaming."

"About what?" asked the old lady crisply.

Nancy consumed two bites of muffin, and then said: "Of all sad words of tongue or pen, Cousin Columbine, the saddest are these:—'It might have been.' I'll admit I was plying myself a little. This happens to be the day when Nancy Nelson expected to launch her bark on the—social sea!"

She laughed, but it wasn't a natural laugh, and Cousin Columbine observed her gravely.

"Was giving up all that fuss and feathers a disappointment?"

"It was some jolt," said Nance. "Could I have two eggs, please?"

"And what time did Mrs. Adam say she'd come?"

"At nine o'clock. I wish you'd run down to the store before you leave, Nancy, and get some baking powder. Aurora's going to make a cake."

"Do you want chocolate or coconut?" questioned Aurora, poking her head in at the door "If it's to be coconut, you'd better get another box; but considerin'—"

"Get the coconut anyway," broke in Miss Columbine, and motioned Aurora to go away. "I'm glad you're to have this trip to-day, child. You won't have time to be regretting what can't be helped. I want you to get a pretty scarf to give Eve Adam, something good, since we're going there for Christmas dinner. Eve never spends a penny on herself, and she likes nice things, and knows 'em too. That's all, except a book for John."

"You mean the old Adam?" asked Nancy, dimpling.

Cousin Columbine nodded. "You'd better ask Eve what he'd like; and if you're through breakfast, go right down to the store now. Those Adam people are often ahead of time."

"You bring a couple of pounds of powdered sugar," called Aurora as Nancy started off. "And" (as she reached the gate) "a cake of chocolate."

When Nance returned laden with paper bags of various sizes, the Adam car was standing before the door; and as she laid her burdens on the kitchen table, Aurora said: "Well, here you are! And Matthew Adam waiting six minutes. His mother couldn't go; and I hope to goodness that boy don't keep his mouth shut all the way! He's in the attic's room with Miss Columbine right now, but if you was to ask me, his brother Mark would have given you a more exciting time."

Nance whirled about, laughing as she saw Matthew in the doorway. He said, apologetically: "I know, Aurora, but Mark couldn't be spared this morning. Don't kill yourself to hurry, Na-Nancy. I've got to put some water in the radiator. Just to take your time."

"Is Mrs. Adam sick?" questioned the girl as he went out. "No, my dear," responded Cousin Columbine, "but Luke comes home tomorrow anyway, and Matthew had some errands he wished to do. Now run and get your things together, child, and don't hurry through your shopping for Matthew Adam or anybody else. If you're back by supper time it's soon enough."

Nancy was ready before Matt was; but Aurora stopped them, rushing from the kitchen as the engine roared.

"You get those woolen stockings the first thing," she panted, "and then go right into a rest room and put them on. You see she does it, Matthew Adam."

"I'll do my best," Matt promised, his face crimson.

Corner In Earthworms

Speculators Are Holding Back Supplies From Melbourne Zoo

A new form of "racket" has been started owing to the dietary of the quaint duckbilled platypus which has its home in the Melbourne zoo.

Not least among the queer features of this animal is its huge appetite for earthworms, of which it now consumes more than 800 per day, considerably more than its own weight.

The authorities of the zoo are now confronted with the fact that speculators in earthworms are holding back their supplies of the commodity and are asking 15 cents per dozen instead of 12 previously charged.

It is a question of who will "turn" first, the worm speculators, or the curator of the zoo.

Used Distress Money

Austria Resorted To Many Substitutes When Coins Disappeared

During the war and after the collapse of the Austrian Monarchy, when coins disappeared and were largely hoarded, many different kinds of paper notes so-called "distress money," were issued by various towns, villages and provinces. In addition to primitive slips of paper, pieces of wood, parchment, leather, lacquer, and even porcelain were used as money. All these are now on show at a remarkable exhibition at the Hagenbund Gallery at Vienna.

The exhibition shows that not only societies, but also innkeepers, newspapers, and political parties issued money tokens.

Why Name Was Used

The bug collecting hobby of an English aeroplane builder, J. de Havilland, has made the name Moth known over the skyways of the world. As an entomologist, de Havilland specializes in the collection of moths—so the majority of his products are named after moths or some species of moth, such as Gypsy Moth, Puss Moth, Moth, Dragon, etc.

Paradise For Snakes

Six Species May Be Seen in One English District

If one wants to see snakes, he is advised to go to the clay-mining district north of Corte Castle, in Dorsetshire. If there is a snakes' paradise in Britain, this is the place. There are six species of British reptiles, and representatives of all of them, including the rare smooth snake and sand lizard may be seen here.

The other four species are the adder, the grass snake, the slow worm, and the common lizard. The adder is the only one of these reptiles that is poisonous and its bite is rarely fatal, though, naturally, medical attention should be obtained as quickly as possible if one is bitten. But it is not often that anyone is bitten, and this snake has been described as "dangerous only to toy dogs, stupid babies, and invalids."

Collections Show Increase

Figures For Federal Income Taxes Higher This Year

Canadians are dipping into their pockets to pay more and more federal income taxes. It was shown in figures released by the department of national revenue. In the 19 taxation districts, $58,407,904 was collected in the first four months of the fiscal year, an increase of $15,774,923 over 1934.

Only two districts, Quebec and Regina, showed decreases this year, Quebec a decrease of $139,745 and Regina, $1,301.

Editors Welcomed

Close to 200 editors and publishers attended the sixteenth annual convention of the Canadian Weekly Newspaper Association in Toronto. Delegates from all parts of Canada and Newfoundland, representing more than 100 weekly newspapers, were welcomed by Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn and Mayor James Simpson.

Little Helps For This Week

"Ye are all the children of light, and the children of the day." These salutations S.S.

Serene will be our days, and bright. And happy will our nature be. When love is our unerring light. And joy its own security.

—Wordsworth.

Nothing can produce so great a serenity of life as a mind free from guilt, and kept untainted not only from actions but from purposes that are wicked. By this means the soul will not only be unpolluted, but not disturbed; the fountain will run clear and unimpeded, and the streams that flow from it will be just and honest deeds, a brisk energy of spirit which makes a man an enthusiast in his joy. For as shrubs that are cut down with the morning dew on them do for a long time retain their fragrance, so the good actions of a wise man perfume his mind and leave a rich rent behind them. So that joy, as it were, is watered with these essences and owes its flourishing to them.

Place Was Transformed

Overseas Visitors Unaware They Were Received In Historic Room

Many of the guests at the Government garden party to overseas visitors at No. 10 Downing Street were quite unaware that when they were received by Mrs. Baldwin and Miss MacDonald it was in the Cabinet Room, states a London publication. This dignified but unpretentious room, the most famous in the British Empire, if not in the world, had been cleared of its usual furnishings and in particular of the big table at which so many fateful decisions have been taken. So unlike a meeting room it looked that one well-known overseas guest, as he left it, asked if it would be possible for him to have a look at the Cabinet Room. "But you have just come out of it," he was told. "Then let me go back and have a good look round it," he replied, and back he went.

Main Street

The Alberta government is issuing class E truck licenses as usual again this year.

Magistrate Miller of Sedgewick held court in Irma on Tuesday, August 20th.

Mrs. Norris and children of Kerobert, Sask., have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. V. Hutchinson.

Mr. T. C. Wood of Kinsella was successful in getting a good supply of water on J. G. Fenton's farm east of town.

The Irma district was hit quite badly by a frost on the morning of August 16th, some residents claiming there was ten degrees.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Hamilton and family visited at the home of Mrs. Hamilton's mother and brother, Mrs. Stougard and Julius, last week-end.

The Calgary Power Co. had a gang of men in town on Friday, August 16th, repairing the damage done to their transformer by fire on August 1.

Mrs. A. Hill and daughter, Mrs. P. J. Hardy, returned to Irma the first of the week. Mrs. Hill has been visiting her daughter and son-in-law in Edmonton since July 1st.

Mrs. Louise Hager had her brother, Mr. McFee, manager of Sterling meat market, Calgary, together with his wife and two children, spending their holidays with her last week.

Mr. Doncaster has been given the contract of gravelling the highway from Irma to Wainwright. Work was started the first of this week. Grading on this stretch of highway was completed last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Elliott and children, together with the former's mother, Mrs. J. Elliott, spent Sunday with their cousin, Mrs. L. Owin. Silver Heights is one of the fortunate districts which has escaped half this season.

Word was received last Tuesday of the death of Mr. George Ambler in the Lamont hospital on Monday, August 19th. The remains were being buried in the Irma cemetery on August 21st. A more detailed account will be published later.

A birthday party was held at the home of Mrs. Ivan Currie on Sunday in honor of Miss Iva Currie's sixth birthday and Mr. Carl's Bjork's (7) birthday. Supper was served by the hostess, Mr. Bjork cutting the birthday cake, which was gaily decorated with silver bells. The invited guests besides Mr. Bjork were Mrs. Mazeland Lenore and Mr. Vernon Bjork. Wm. Code, late of Monitor, is spending a fortnight visiting among former Youngstown friends in this district.

An unusual social event took place at the home of Mrs. George Tripp, Irma, on Tuesday afternoon, August 20th, when a number of the pioneer ladies of the district were invited for tea. Mrs. J. G. Clark of Trail, B.C., and her daughter, Mrs. A. Harper of Jarro, were the guests of honor, and all present were or had been residents of the Irma district for 25 years and more.

The afternoon was spent in reminiscences of events when Irma was very young, and many good laughs were enjoyed, mingled with a few tears. At the close of a delightful afternoon some snap shots were taken through the kindness of Mr. J. W.
